

Nature Card

Water Droplet Lenses

I have had fun going out after a rain to find water droplets on leaves and flowers to see how:

1. They magnify the fibers and bugs that are on the plant
2. They reflect the scenery around you

You don't have to wait for rain, a spray bottle works the same, or even just pour a bit of water on your fingertips and spray it out.

A magnifying glass is helpful, but not necessary.

A photo is best -- it can be zoomed in when you get home, to share the beauty and excitement of the find!

Try out more fun activities at naturetrack.org
Download other Nature Cards or go to Virtual Trips and explore the activities listed there.

Photo: Mary Jane Delgado

NatureTrack

Fostering a lifelong fascination with nature